Cambridge College in Chesapeake welcomes author/alumna Denise Howard

Author of No Bones Broken featured at book signing on April 16, 2011, 10:30am-1pm

Cambridge College in Chesapeake, Virginia, is pleased to announce that alumna Denise Howard will be appearing on campus in Chesapeake to discuss her book, No Bones Broken, the story of a young woman's search for significance and purpose. The event is free and open to the public.

Ms. Howard lives in Chesapeake and earned a Master of Management (M.M.) degree from Cambridge College in 2010. She will be present at the event on Saturday, April 16, 2011, from 10:30 am until 1:00 pm, at the Cambridge College campus at 1403 Greenbrier Parkway, Suite 300, in Chesapeake. For more information, please contact Ella Benson at 757-424-0333 or via email at ella.benson@cambridgecollege.edu.

Cambridge College offers master's degree programs in education, psychology, counseling, and management, as well as undergraduate programs, and certificate programs in advanced graduate studies.

A leader in providing education to a diverse student body, not for its own sake, but because it enriches all of us, Cambridge College has been recognized for serving communities across the United States. With seven regional centers nationwide, it is helping over 9,000 adults realize their own power to change their lives through advanced education.

Cambridge College Cambridge College is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges through its Commission on Institutions of Higher Education. Cambridge College is certified by the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia (SCHEV) (<http://www.schev.edu/>) to operate as an institution of higher education and to confer degrees at 1403 Greenbrier Parkway, Suite 300, Chesapeake, VA.
