

Libraries in Cambridge, Massachusetts for Cambridge College Students

First see if what you need is in the extensive online, full-text resources of the Cambridge College Online Library (CCOL). It provides an extensive collection of full-text articles from thousands of scholarly journals, full-text books, live reference librarian support 24 hours every day, and instruction and resources for doing research in all our subject areas. It's free, it's always available, and instructions for going there are at <http://www.cambridgecollege.edu/library/>

For instructions and information about library and research resources for Cambridge College students, click the How to Use CCOL Handbook link on <http://www.cambridgecollege.edu/library/research.cfm>

For detailed instructions for researching and writing your research papers, see handouts on the Research Resources page at <http://www.cambridgecollege.edu/library/research.cfm>

For arrangements for online and traditional library and research skills instruction, see the How to Use CCOL Handbook linked at <http://www.cambridgecollege.edu/library/research.cfm>

Traditional library arrangements:

- Education and counseling students are encouraged to use Gutman Library of the Harvard Graduate School of Education in Harvard Square. In addition to the print collection, you can make an appointment for individual research help with their highly skilled reference librarians.

Cambridge College has arranged for all our students to have borrowing privileges at Gutman Library, but it takes a month to get a Special Borrower card, so start the process soon if you want to take books out of Gutman Library. You do not need the Gutman Library Special Borrower Card just to use the library and its services. You only need the card to borrow books. Always bring your Cambridge College ID card to use Gutman Library, as you cannot enter the library without it.

For information and a student application form for a Gutman Library Borrower's card, go to the "Traditional Library Skills" section of <http://www.cambridgecollege.edu/library/research.cfm>

Management students are encouraged to use the Kirstein Business Branch of the Boston Public Library in Government Center, Boston. For information go to the Research Resources page at <http://www.cambridgecollege.edu/library/research.cfm> and scroll to the link "Everyone Can Do Management and Business Research at the Kirstein Business Branch of the Boston Public Library."

For research in other subject areas, and in addition to the collections at Gutman and Kirstein Libraries, use the many great academic and research libraries open to the public. To find an appropriate and convenient library for your research topic, go to the Research Resources page at <http://www.cambridgecollege.edu/library/research.cfm> and scroll to the link "Greater New England Including Boston: Local Traditional Libraries."

Writing Tutors can instruct you in online and traditional library and research skills, as well as writing skills. Leave a message at (617) 873-0185 to make an appointment or ask for further information, or go to 1000 Mass Avenue (Room 314) or to the second floor lounge at 80 Prospect Street.
