

VIOLENCE TRANSFORMED 2019

Immigration, Migration, Displacement & Community

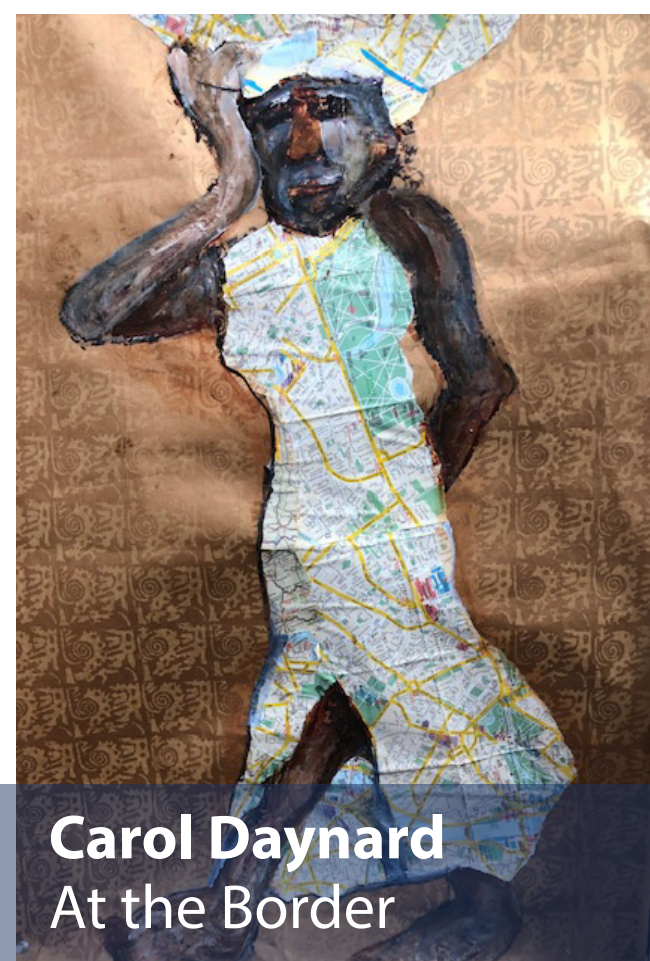

Cambridge College is proud to host Violence Transformed for a 5th year with an exhibition of art that reflects on the story of immigrants, refugees, asylum seekers and displaced people worldwide and here in America.

Walter Crump
Into the Light

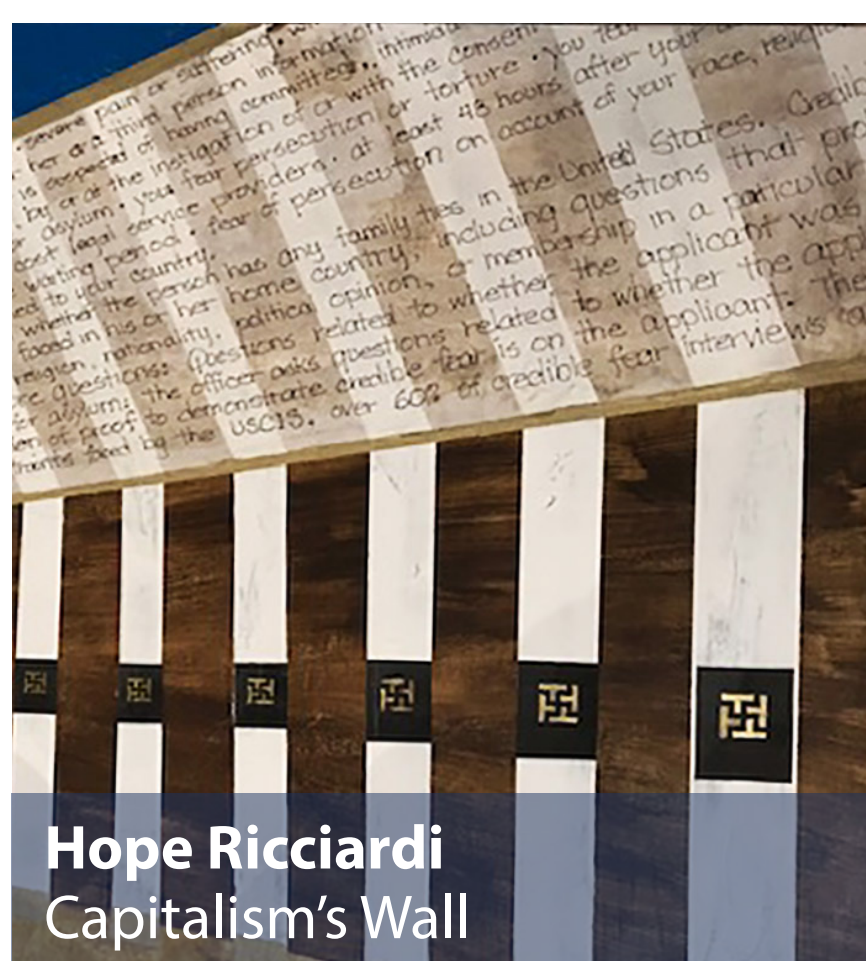

Judith Carlin
I am Somebody, I Wanna Go Home

Carol Daynard
At the Border

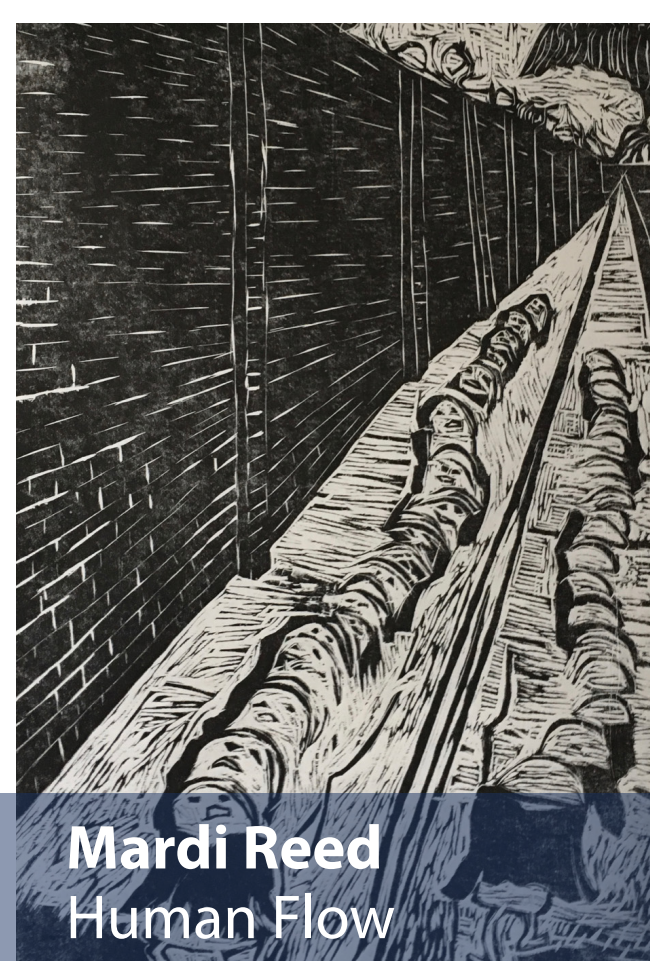

Josephine Turalba
Migration Series #1

Hope Ricciardi
Capitalism's Wall

Brenda Steinberg
And the Walls Come Tumbling Down I

Mardi Reed
Human Flow

Ruth Rosner
On the Journey

The work of participating artists will provoke us to consider the challenges faced by individuals and communities seeking safe and supportive existence. This exhibition underscores the commitment of Cambridge College to promote awareness of the struggles and triumph of those we serve and to inspire action in support of those in need.

JOIN US FOR:

Artist Opening Reception and Performances

Tuesday, April 2, 2019 from 5:00 - 7:00pm

AND

Voices From the Field Presentation

Friday, April 26, 2019 from 6:00 - 7:30pm

"Dialogue to Transform Community and Organizations"

An interactive event presented by students from Course BHS 335

Please visit www.cambridgecollege.edu for directions, parking information, and viewing availability.

Questions? Contact Cambridge College at officeofpublicrelations@cambridgecollege.edu